

A movie poster for the film '1917'. The central figure is a young man in a brown military uniform, looking upwards with a concerned expression. He is standing in a trench filled with other soldiers in similar uniforms. The background is a chaotic battle scene with a large, dark, stylized '1917' overlaid. The sky is filled with falling debris and a bright orange glow from the ground, suggesting a recent explosion or fire. The overall tone is somber and intense.
